Cozumel

Underseas Scuba Center visits Cozumel several times each year — more than we do any other destination. Why is Cozumel so popular?

Experts consider Cozumel to be among the Caribbean's top three dive destinations. The diving equals just about anything you will find in Cayman or Bonaire. You'll find: breathtaking walls; beautiful shallow, medium and deep reefs; a wide assortment of colorful fish and coral; heartpounding drift dives; and, relaxing shallow reef dives.

The culture is unique. You can dine on a variety of Mexican foods, shop for crafts and gifts in the marketplace and explore Mayan ruins.

There is plenty to do, even if you don't want to spend all your time diving. You can go deep sea fishing, parasailing, water or jet skiing ' almost any watersport imaginable. There are countless opportunities for shopping, hiking and exploring, both on Cozumel and the mainland. Or you can just lie around and do nothing. It's your call.

Above all, Cozumel is an exceptional value. You'll discover that our five-day/four-night Cozumel getaways generally cost less and deliver more than trips to other popular Caribbean destinations. Plus, your dollar simply goes farther in Mexico.

During our trip, we'll be staying at the Hotel Presidente Inter-Continental — Cozumel's only AAA Four Diamond Award winner. Located on the island's southwestern coast, it is just two miles south of San Miguel and less than a mile from Chaankanaab Marine Park.

Because this trip overlaps a weekend, you may need to take as little as three days off from work. At this price, however, you can bet it will fill fast. Don't delay in reserving your spot.
